Who Am I:

I am a professional actor by trade having performed in over 100 theatrical productions all over the country. I have also shot dozens of sales and training videos for a variety of companies as spokesman or representing the customer or business team. For over 20 years I have committed to what I call "Business Theatre." I have worked as emcee, spokesman or have done character work for trade shows, sales or annual meetings, other live and on camera events all over the world. With top of the line ear prompter skills I can turn scripts around on a dime and still maintain a conversational tone. I take great pride in how I integrate with the team at hand. Because it's not about me. I am committed to communicating your message. And I always succeed in having the "audience" believe that I am either one of them or one of the sales, technical or marketing team. Always performing with energy, honesty, credibility and professionalism is my signature.
